

“The Great Human Race”: Transforming one step at a time 5 & 10k Run/Walk

Supporting The Center for Holocaust and Humanity Education’s efforts to remember, inform, and transform

Sunday, May 16, 2010
Lunken Airport Playfield

To register, go to www.holocaustandhumanity.org or contact us at 513.487.3055 or info@holocaustandhumanity.org

What?

The Center for Holocaust and Humanity Education’s “The Great Human Race” 5 and 10k Run/Walk will be a collective expression of our community’s commitment to combating hate, prejudice, and indifference. By joining us in solidarity, participants show their support for Holocaust education, helping us create a more tolerant, inclusive, and peaceful world.

Where?

Lunken Airport Playfield,
at Beechmont and Wilmer Avenues in Cincinnati.

When?

Sunday, May 16th, 2pm. Rain or Shine!

Why?

Racism, antisemitism and prejudice are widespread even today. Although the world has made significant strides in combating discrimination, much remains to be done. “The Great Human Race” will support the efforts of The Center for Holocaust and Humanity Education, allowing the organization to continue using education as a means of undermining the forces of intolerance and hate in our communities. Race together towards a more just world for our children.

How can you help?

- Walk or run: $20 before May 7, $25 beginning May 8
- Sponsor a friend or family member
- Make a tax-deductible contribution
- Encourage co-workers to join us
- Ask your employer to become a sponsor (recognition will be online and on all printed materials, before and after the event)